Documentation That Tells a Story and Helps You Maximise Your Learning Investment

By measuring the existing knowledge and skill levels of an individual or team, learning can be readily targeted to employees' needs, and therefore, can speed the development of job-related competencies.

PMAppraise® is a complete assessment tool that:

- Measures knowledge of project management best practices, as well as the knowledge areas of PMI's A Guide to the Project Management Body of Knowledge (PMBOK® Guide)
- Compiles a comprehensive group summary report that provides an overall picture of individuals and the group as a whole
- Provides recommendations for learning activities to help bridge knowledge gaps

ESI's consultants can also follow-up to provide further recommendations and conclusions based on an analysis of the reports.

About PMAppraise®

PMAppraise® measures individual project management knowledge gaps and your departmental knowledge as a whole. The convenient, online assessment consists of 80 multiple choice questions that cover 33 project management best practices identified by ESI's subject matter experts. The assessment also covers the knowledge areas of the PMBOK® Guide. The assessment takes about 1.5 hours to complete.

After completion, the assessment is scored automatically, and a report is sent to the individual showing their results and areas needing improvement.

For organisations who wish to enrol a group of individuals, group summary reports can also be sent to managers to assess learning needs at an organisational or departmental level.

Both the individual and group summary reports give you detailed information that:

- Summarises your individual or organisation's results based on the 33 project management best practices and the PMBOK® Guide knowledge areas
- Compares the results against other professionals in the project management industry
- Prioritises group and individual learning needs based on the mappings to key project management topics

ESI's expert consultants will help you translate the group summary report into a tailored learning programme for your organisation or department. Through consultation with ESI's experts, additional mentorship or professional growth opportunities may also be identified.

The reports can also be used as a tool for determining which open enrolment classes may be most suitable for individuals.

Evaluate the needs of your team members with PMAppraise® before delving into an extensive learning or developmental programme. Ensure your professional development dollars go towards learning activities that you know your organisation needs.
